

A tribute to PatholIndia.com

It would not be wrong to say that PatholIndia is synonymous with not only pathologists of India but those across the globe! It is part and parcel of the life of a pathologist. Post graduates, junior and senior pathologists of our fraternity use this platform of communication to express news, information and recent advances in the field. Hats off to Dr Johnson who established this in 1999; this media has spread its wings to encompass the universe of Patho-land.

A yeoman service to colleagues, the seed sown has grown into a wonderful fruit bearing tree to shelter and bond young and old pathologists together. As I have grown in this field I have realised that any and everything on this unique channel is reliable, dependable and authentic. The selfless efforts with no expectations in return must have been a sheer struggle in the maiden days.

I am reminded of the words of the English poet and educationist Arthur Hugh Clough

*Say not the struggle nought availeth,
The labour and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been they remain;*

For,

*And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light,
In front the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look, the land is bright.*

Indeed, the Patho-Land has been made bright through the window of Pathoindia.com and the spirit behind the effort will continue to grow to envelope e-pathologists across the world.
